

LEARNING COACH RESPONSIBILITIES

The Learning Coach (LC) is the adult in the home who will assist the student with completing their daily tasks. The amount of assistance depends on the student's grade level and the student's ability to complete work independently.

Middle School (6-8)

The type of assistance provided by the Middle School Learning Coach varies, based on the student's independence. The Learning Coach will spend an average of 2-4 hours a day. During a typical week, the Learning Coach will:

- Assist with some lessons
- Encourage independent learning
- Log attendance
- Communicate with teachers

High School

The High School Learning Coach may spend less time assisting their student based on the student's ability to work independently. The average amount of time spent by the Learning Coach with a High School student is 12 hours a day. During a typical week, the Learning Coach will:

- Assist with some lessons, varies based on student's independence
- Verifies lesson completion to ensure student is on track
- Supports student independence
- Attends teacher conferences
